eMessaging Security & Compliance Solutions

THE PROBLEM OVERVIEW

- While email has become the communications hub for most organizations, it has also created a vast universe of threats that organizations face each day

- Enterprise-class email solutions are too complex, too costly, and too risky to implement for small and medium sized businesses

- Confidential and non-public company information can be intentionally or unintentionally sent outside your organization

- Standard message archiving solutions can't capture IM, Bloomberg, or Reuters messages, nor do they meet the rigid mandates of regulatory and governing bodies

In today's highly regulated world, secure communications is a must. Your ability to protect your data is vital to your business, your customers and your reputation. At Perimeter, we can help you safeguard your information with secure email solutions that are flexible, easy to use, cost effective, and meet current and future regulatory requirements.
